

DAWN CHORUS

New Zealand is one of the first places in the world to greet the morning sun. This fresh start is accompanied by a dawn chorus of melodic birdsong echoing from tree to tree. This sound is distinctly of its place and in forest where birdlife is flourishing this early morning wake up call can be almost deafening.

Dawn Chorus makes organic Sauvignon Blanc from Hawke's Bay on the East Coast of Aotearoa - New Zealand, where the land means as much to us as the wine we put in the bottle.

Vineyards

Grown inland about 20 miles from the sea and nestled at the bottom of uplifted limestone hills. This block is influenced by the river that used to flood across the valley floor 45,000 years ago, and even earlier and deeper than that, as the entire area was a salt lake formed by seawater being trapped as Aotearoa was lifted out of the sea.

The sea water is long gone, but as a result the soils are typically shallow river silts over greywacke stone and deep, slightly saline sub-soils. These soils, combined with a classically cool climate and low rainfall, produce grapes with moderate sugars, bright acidity and beautifully complex wines.

Winemaking

Minimal intervention, maximum intention captures the essence of how we're making these wines. Harvest in the cool morning...a little after the dawn chorus...while there's still dew on the ground helps keep bright acidity, fresh aromatics and pure fruit flavours.

At the winery, natural ferments and a long period on yeast lees create complexity and texture in the wine. A single pass filtration on the way to bottling makes sure all the goodness is locked in.

2022 Dawn Chorus Sauvignon Blanc, Hawke's Bay, New Zealand

A wine bursting with character, classic grapefruit and citrus notes, some minerality, passionfruit and gold melon flavours. A bright acidity, rich palate and a hint of crunch make this a mouth filling, interesting and very drinkable Sauvignon Blanc
